

Why Sundial Time and Attendance?

Sundial takes Time and Attendance automation further

Sometimes it's the little things that count. With over 15 years in the time and attendance business, Sundial's RealTime™ handles all the nuances of changing pay rates, vacation and rounding rules, overtime, and even intelligent error correction for missed punches.

Sundial's RealTime™ simply gets it right without having to wade through complex interface settings and controls. RealTime Standard™ is powerful yet so simple to use that it seems to run itself.

Designed for Payroll Managers

Sundial Time Systems knows the situations that face payroll managers and multi-company / multi-location time collection needs. Whether your company has 15 employees or thousands, Sundial will design a system that matches your specific goals and needs.

Proven Performance

Attention to detail and a true understanding of the Time and Attendance industry allow Sundial products to be used for years. It's comforting to know that your software products work correctly and the company that built them will still be around to support you. Reliability means you can count on us, now and tomorrow.

Works the way you do

With many different clock types and supported payroll export formats you are able to continue using familiar existing systems and integrate Sundial's RealTime™ software and time clocks. Realtime's flexibility and reporting helps to make RealTime™ a perfect fit to your established workflow.

Just the help you need

Realtime's help files, wizards, and Sundial Tech support have you covered. No need to dedicate days to scouring instructions and making practice files. Sundial's Realtime is ready to go out of the box, most companies are able to be up and running in under 20 minutes.

A smart business decision

Try it before you buy - Not only does Sundial offer a full functioning demo for you to try, but we follow that up with a 30 day money back guarantee. Go online and run the numbers for your own company.
